

Successful national government-led large scale and sustained adolescent pregnancy/childbearing prevention programmes

The cases of Chile, England, Ethiopia and Jamaica

22 June 2022, 2:00pm CEST

human reproduction programme hrp 50
research for impact
UNDP-UNFPA-UNICEF-WHO-WORLD BANK

 Medicus Mundi Switzerland

 ibp
network

 EXEMPLARS
IN GLOBAL HEALTH

AFIDEP

African Institute for Development Policy

Photo: Frédéric de La Mure/MAEDI - flickr.com/francediplomatie

WEBINAR INVITATION

In a growing number of countries, governments are taking the lead and have put in place large scale (nationwide) and sustained programmes which have demonstrated success in reducing adolescent pregnancy and childbearing in different contexts for example in Chile, England, Ethiopia and Jamaica.

This Webinar aims to showcase the success stories of four different countries in how to reduce teenage pregnancy by having a strong national support.

Register at:

www.medicusmundi.ch

- Date: 22 June 2022, 2:00pm CEST
- Time: 90min via Zoom Webinar
- Facilitator: Carine Weiss, MMS
- Collaborating partners: MMS, WHO, IBP, ExpandNet, GFMER, FP2030, and AFIDEP